

Bio. for the Richland County Vector Control Program Director

Tammy Brewer graduated from UNC-Charlotte with a BS in Biology in 1987. After graduation, she began teaching Environmental Education on Lake Wylie and then moved to Trinity, TX to continue teaching. She was hired to work at the Richland County Health Department in the Vector Control Program in 1990. She became the program's operation supervisor in 1995 and the director in 1999. In 2001, Tammy completed UNC's Program Management Academy for Public Health.

She is currently a State Delegate to the Mid-Atlantic Mosquito Control Association and is a member of the South Carolina Mosquito Control Association and the American Mosquito Control Association.